

▷ FISHING EXPEDITION

The bald eagle, like other sea eagles, does not enter the water to catch prey; instead, it swoops down to snatch fish, live or dead, from the surface of a lake.

▷▷ DOWNY CHICK

Bald eagle chicks remain in the nest for 10–13 weeks, entirely dependent on their parents for food, protection, and shelter.

△ BODY RIPPER

The fiercely hooked bill is not used to kill prey, but to rip it into chunks that can be swallowed, and to tear the hide off the carcass of larger animals.
