Three Days in Liguria

The Italian Riviera is an easy place to spend time, whether you want to sightsee, hike, or relax in a spectacularly beautiful setting.

DAY ONE Genoa's spectacular aquarium, designed by architect Renzo Piano, is an excellent start to any visit. Then take a short stroll downtown to explore the medieval streets and visit the Duomo.

DAY TWO Pack your swimsuit and set out along the spectacular 7-mile (12-km) Sentiero Azzurro path that links the picture-postcard villages of the Cinque Terre. Begin at Monterosso al Mare and go southeast along the cliffs dotted with medieval watchtowers and through the fishing settlements, all the way to Riomaggiore. If you get tired, jump on a train or a ferry.

DAY THREE A rocky wooded peninsula east of Genoa is the stunning setting for "impossibly beautiful" Portofino, with its pastel houses and luxury yachts. From there, catch a ferry to the exquisite abbey of San Fruttuoso, which sits on the beachfront in a secluded bay. Continue on to hospitable Camogli either on foot or by ferry.

Essentials

GETTING THERE

Genoa's Cristoforo Colombo airport has flights from most European cities. There are buses every half-hour to the downtown, 4 miles (6 km) away. Extensive bus and train networks link the towns of the Italian Riviera.

WHERE TO STAY

Hotel Agnello D'Oro (inexpensive) is a quiet converted monastery close to the train station in Genoa. www.hotelagnellodoro.it
Hotel Cenobio dei Dogi (moderate) in Camogli is a beautiful seafront hotel in a refurbished 17th-century villa. www.cenobio.it
Hotel Splendido Mare (expensive) provides unabashed luxury in the heart of fabulous Portofino. www.hotelsplendido.com
