

Right Hosier Lane is one of Melbourne's many "laneways"; it is well known for its street art

Below Simple Pan-Asian fusion: trout steamed in banana leaf and lemongrass with wild and sticky rice

A Day in Melbourne

The flavor of Melbourne is best experienced by sampling a mixture of the city and some of its inner-city suburban neighborhoods: St. Kilda for beaches and glamorized grit; Fitzroy for eclectic urban cool; and the CBD (Central Business District) for its chic dining and bar scene.

MORNING Start in St. Kilda with breakfast on the deck of the St. Kilda Sea Baths. Walk the historic pier or drop into Luna Park before taking in the buzz of the Acland Street Precinct, famous for its continental cake shops and vintage clothing stores.

AFTERNOON Take a tram to Gertrude Street, Fitzroy, to experience Melbourne's hipster scene. There's kitsch housewares, intelligent fashion, alluring wine bars, and great contemporary art spaces.

EVENING Grab a tram or taxi back to the city bustle and Federation Square for a water-view apéritif at Riverland Bar. The rest of the night is for Pan-Asian drinks and nibbles: try hawker-style food at Gingerboy or a lychee martini at Longrain.

Essentials

GETTING THERE

Tullamarine Airport is 14 miles (23 km) from downtown Melbourne, which can be reached by shuttle bus (SkyBus) or taxi.

WHERE TO STAY

Bishopsgate B&B (inexpensive) offers good beachside accommodations in quaint St. Kilda. www.bishopsgate.com.au

Hotel Causeway (moderate) is a centrally located hotel in one of Melbourne's historic shopping arcades. www.hotelcauseway.com.au

The Olsen Hotel (expensive) is contemporary luxe with an artistic bent. It offers rooms, suites, and "residential suites" with kitchenettes. www.artserieshotels.com.au/Olsen

TOURIST INFORMATION

www.melbourneaustralia.org

