

Particles from the Sun collide with oxygen in Earth's atmosphere to produce green-coloured lights near the Poles

