

The image shows a vast, flat landscape of Lake Natron. The foreground is dominated by a dense network of reddish-brown, cracked mud, creating a mosaic-like pattern. In the distance, a range of rugged, dark mountains stretches across the horizon under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds. The text is overlaid on the middle of the image, centered horizontally.

Any creature that falls into Lake Natron quickly gets covered in sodium salts and looks as if it has been turned to stone