

A close-up photograph of an astronaut's gloved hand working on the exterior of a spacecraft. The astronaut is wearing a white spacesuit with gold-colored reflective material on the visor. The spacecraft's surface is white with various mechanical components, including a large circular hatch and several smaller circular ports. The background shows the complex structure of the spacecraft, including a large white cylindrical component and a black rectangular panel.

A spacesuit's reflective visor includes a layer of gold

0.00005 mm (0.000002 in)

thick to protect the astronaut's eyes