

GOLDEN VIEW

The transition metals are very shiny when clean as their atoms reflect light and other invisible rays. Gold, one of the shiniest transition metals, is used to coat the helmet visors of spacesuits to protect astronauts from the Sun's dangerous rays.