

Once you've positioned your baby so that they are level with your breast, hold them with their nose and mouth facing your nipple.