

The newborn baby's head circumference is measured at this first check and at ongoing development checks.