

The baby's heart rate and rhythm is listened to, using a stethoscope, to rule out conditions such as a heart murmur.