

with it. Put a slice of fresh ginger in a cup and pour in boiling water to make an infusion, or try crystallized ginger chews or a ginger cookie. Ginger ale doesn't usually contain real ginger, and you might not tolerate the carbonation

- Drink plenty if you are vomiting, to avoid becoming dehydrated. Carry a bottle of water with you at all times and sip it gradually throughout the day. If your urine is getting very concentrated, it can be a sign of dehydration; you may need to see a doctor.

If the nausea or vomiting is too much to bear, then consult your doctor, who will be able to prescribe anti-nausea medications.