

Your 10th week

YOUR BABY'S MAJOR ORGANS ARE IN PLACE, BUT NOT WORKING YET.

This is your baby's last week as an embryo; next week they will be a fetus. The major organs are in place, although by no means in working order. The body systems will continue to mature for the rest of the pregnancy and beyond. The most noticeable difference to your body will be in your breasts. You may well have gone up a cup size—or more.
