

Hardly any plant foods contain vitamin B12, so take a supplement and eat B12 fortified foods, such as yeast extract. Zinc, which is vital for many metabolic functions, including helping your body use folic acid, is supplied by seeds, especially sesame, nuts, and wheat germ.