

Relaxed jogging is a good aerobic activity, but only if you're used to running. Don't take it up as a new activity in pregnancy. Switch to brisk walking in later pregnancy.

VITAMIN C

This important vitamin can't be stored in the body Vitamin C so it is needed in the diet. It has a huge number of roles, one being its protective antioxidant function. In pregnancy vitamin C, along with vitamins A and E, supports the immune system, so regularly eating vegetables and fruit rich in vitamin C will help boost your immunity.
