

Although your shape changes gradually, some women find that their bump grows at a faster rate during some weeks than others.

FOCUS ON TWINS

Twin bonding occurs well before the babies are born. Advanced video technology has captured the special relationship between twins in the uterus. They have been seen to interact and even grasp each other's hands.

ASK A NUTRITIONIST

I keep waking up hungry at night—what should I do? It is normal to get the nighttime munchies during pregnancy, but annoying, especially if you're already having difficulties sleeping. Try
