

At around this time, you may begin to feel some slight sensations when your baby moves around.

NOTICING FIRST MOVEMENTS

Was it gas, or did your baby move? The first time you notice your baby moving marks the start of a new chapter in the bonding process, and it seems it has always been the case, even in ancient times.