

Here, the baby is in a typical position, curled with feet and elbows bent. The well-developed ear is still a little low on the side of the head at this point, and the baby's blood vessels show up well.

TACKLING HEARTBURN

If you're battling heartburn, try these solutions:

Eat smaller meals and chew well

- Avoid spicy, rich, and fatty foods
- Don't smoke or drink alcohol, and avoid carbonated drinks, including sparkling water
- Drink low-fat milk
- Try drinking chamomile tea (check with your doctor first)
- Munch on raw garlic
- Chew gum after eating
- Sit upright after meals
- Don't eat a meal late at night Raise the head of your bed by 6 in (15 cm) and lie on your left side. If these remedies are ineffective, ask your doctor about medication to relieve your symptoms.
