

I'm so itchy that I'm scratching to the point of bleeding. What can I do? Most itching in pregnancy, especially on your belly, is due to the skin stretching, hormonal changes, and heat. Applying moisturizing cream should help.

If you have significant itching, see your doctor to determine whether you have obstetric cholestasis, a serious but rare condition that affects the liver and occurs in about 1 percent of pregnancies.