

and feel uncomfortable. To do this, drink plenty of water to avoid dehydration and wear layers that you can put on and take off as required.

As your belly grows, you may be less stable when walking up hills and over uneven terrain, so be careful. Take frequent breaks if you get breathless. Wear good footwear since your ankles and knees will be more fragile due to the hormone relaxin. Don't carry heavy loads