

Your baby's bones are hardening and their arms and legs are beginning to flesh out. They bring their hands to their face often. Their skin is starting to develop a protective outer covering of vernix.

COPING WITH LEG CRAMPS

Getting painful spasms in the leg muscles is common in pregnancy, particularly at night. You may find that you wake up due to the sudden and severe localized pain in your calf muscles. This is thought to be due to the pressure of the uterus on the pelvic nerves.
