

Sitting may make the pain worse since it compresses your internal organs more. When you have to sit for long periods, you may find that you have to keep adjusting your position for comfort. Get up and move around as often as you can.

