- If you're fine showing your belly, you may feel comfortable in stretchy fabrics that can expand as your belly does. The downside to wearing tight clothing is that your skin may be sensitive to anything snug. Tight-fitting tops may become less comfortable as your breast size increases.
- If you feel more comfortable not showing the profile of your belly, choose baggier clothes, such as tunics, smocks, and overshirts. These may be more comfortable and will cloak your belly longer.
- If you want to bare your belly, do so when the weather is warm enough. One advantage is you may find you can wear some prepregnancy tops.
