

Are birth pools or baths available? Do they have TENS machines or other form of pain relief you may be considering? What support is there for breastfeeding; are breast pumps available?

Finally, although you hopefully won't need to use it, you may want to see the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU; see Baby blues and Finding your way). If your baby needs this type of care, it can help to have toured the unit and to have seen the equipment so you can gain a basic understanding of what it's used for.
