

If you do want to be active, go for a gentle walk or swim, or to a pregnancy yoga or Pilates class. If you want to do any exercise in the third trimester, check with your doctor first.

Your doctor will be monitoring your babies' progress and she may advise you on your level of activity if there is any slowdown in the babies' growth and development.

Whatever activity you're doing, always follow the guidelines for safe exercising.

