

better for you and your baby, and will not be offered unless they're necessary, or you feel that you can't do without them.

A mom who has her pain under control will find that the delivery is much quicker, and she'll have much more energy for her new arrival.

