

YOU ARE 33 WEEKS AND 3 DAYS

46 days to go

YOUR BABY TODAY

At this stage, it is simply no longer possible to see the whole baby on a scan. The ultrasound scan cannot not step far enough back to include the whole baby in a single view. Instead it is necessary to move the probe around, to examine one area at a time.

“Most women want to wait as long as possible to start maternity leave, but you must make the decision that is right for you.”

You may decide to work right up until you deliver, and it is generally safe to do so, but by this week, you are likely to find yourself increasingly tired. If you want to start your leave sooner, speak to your employer. Hopefully, they will be understanding, but realize that if you start your maternity leave early, you may have to come back to work sooner. But if you are struggling to cope with the discomforts of late pregnancy, the decision to take leave of absence during the last four weeks, work flex-time, or work from home may be the right move for you. Talk to your doctor and your employer as soon as you make this decision.
