

Try to encourage a bond between your older child and your baby. They might want to listen in or gently feel your bump for movements. Ask them to imagine what the baby might be getting up to inside there.