

a lot, so take the opportunity to do the same. There will be plenty of time for people to meet the new member of your family.

Your hormones will be all over the place, so expect to experience lows as well as highs, especially when your milk comes in.

Your partner also needs time to bond with the baby, nurture you both, and figure out diaper changing.

So stick a message on the front door, put your phone on silent, and snuggle up with your new family.