

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Will I have a say in how I deliver my twins?

If you are having twins, you will get the chance to discuss your plans for giving birth with your obstetrician during the pregnancy. Your decision to have a vaginal birth or a cesarean section will probably be based on several factors, such as the position of the babies. Once you have been given enough time to consider all of the relevant information, safety is the most important factor.

Can I have a home birth with twins?

Home births in the US are very rare, and organizations like the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and the American Medical Association recommend against them because of the potential for complications, even in low-risk singleton pregnancies. For the safety of your babies, a hospital birth is recommended.
