

Astronauts now live and work in space, robotic probes explore other planets, and telescopes reveal distant galaxies. Where will our inventions take us next?

