

ONLINE SUPERSTORE

In 1995, American Jeff Bezos launched Amazon as a book-selling website, but he always wanted his business to sell more than just books. Today, it has truly become an "Everything Store." With massive warehouses located globally, it is the world's biggest online retailer, selling and delivering nearly anything shoppers can think of. The warehouse shown here is in Peterborough, UK.

