

An ancient Egyptian wall painting on a yellowish, textured background. It depicts a winged figure, possibly a deity or a personified concept, with dark skin and a large, white, fan-like wing structure on its back. The figure is shown in profile, facing right, and is holding a dark, oval object in its right hand. To the right of the figure, there are several columns of hieroglyphs, some of which are enclosed in red rectangular frames. The overall style is characteristic of ancient Egyptian art, with bold outlines and a limited color palette.

EARLY BREAKTHROUGHS

EARLY BREAKTHROUGHS

A detail from an ancient Egyptian wall painting, showing a section of a winged figure's wing. The wing is white with red lines radiating from a central point. The background is yellowish and textured.