

Bone links

Muscles are linked to the bones they pull by strong cords called tendons. Tendons contain tough collagen fibers that give them great strength. The end of each tendon is embedded in the outer layer of bone to anchor the muscle firmly in place.

