

Being human

The human body has unique features that have enabled us to become the most successful animals on the Earth. We are the most intelligent and we have special ways of moving, communicating, and staying warm.

On two legs

Humans stand on two legs, which allows us to walk or run long distances. Being upright raises the head, letting us see farther, and leaves the hands free for tasks such as using tools.

A group of children chatting

