

Lymph nodes filter the lymph passing through them. They are found along the lymph vessels and in clusters, such as those in the groin and neck.

Lymph capillaries collect excess tissue fluid that flows into them through tiny flaps that open like one-way swing doors.

Lymph vessel draining lymph from left foot

Flow of lymph