

TERRACOTTA WARRIORS

The life-size figures in the Terracotta Army were assembled from arms, legs, heads, and torsos which had been mass-produced separately. Each figure was then given individual facial features to create a realistic impression of a living army.