Territory gained by the US

The massive Louisiana territory almost doubled the size of the US. The following year it was extended south to include New Orleans.

settling further west came to depend on trade along the Mississippi River. On May 2 a deal, the Louisiana Purchase, was signed in which the United States bought the territory stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to the Rocky Mountains—an area of 829,000 square miles (2,147,000 square kilometres). The price agreed was $15,000,000, but, including interest, the total paid was closer to $27,000,000.

Napoleon faced further challenges in Europe as Britain declared war on France, beginning the Napoleonic Wars. Meanwhile, British East India Company troops were waging another war involving the internal politics of the Maratha Confederacy, the Second Maratha War (to 1805). The Company's attempt to gain control of the territory in India only laid the ground for further conflict.

AFTER FINALLY DRIVING THE FRENCH OUT of Saint-Domingue,

Jean-Jacques Dessalines declared the independence of the new republic of Haiti on 1 January 1804. The name was based partly on the original indigenous name for the island. It was the first—and only—former slave colony to throw off colonial rule and slavery. Despite this, its birth was met with a wary reception—some in the slave-owning US did not want Haiti setting an example to the southern states, a concern shared by Britain, whose slave colony of Jamaica was also in close proximity.

The defeat in the Caribbean did little to weaken Napoleon's stranglehold on power in Europe. In 1804, he made France a hereditary empire, ostensibly to ward off any assassination attempts, but also to showcase his own might. The coronation ceremony on December 2 was remarkable as Napoleon was not crowned by Pope Pius VII (1742–1823) who officiated, but placed the crown on his own head, crowning himself Napoleon I. In this year he also made sweeping reforms to the legal system in France and French territories, known as the Napoleonic Code (see panel, right).

In the US, two explorers—Meriwether Lewis (1774–1809) and William Clark (1770–1838)—set off on an expedition through the newly acquired Louisiana Territory (see map, left). They were under instructions from President Thomas Jefferson to find the Missouri River, establish relations with the indigenous people of the region, and find the fabled Northwest Passage. They made detailed maps and recorded the flora and fauna of the region. The two explorers finally returned to St. Louis in 1806.

In West Africa, Usman dan Fodio (1754–1817), a Muslim scholar and teacher, began a four-year jihad (holy war) that resulted in the creation of the Sokoto Caliphate in 1808 and the Fulani empire in Hausaland (in present-day northern Nigeria).

NAPOLEONIC CODE

One of Napoleon Bonaparte's most far-reaching reforms was to codify French law. Enacted in 1804, the Napoleonic Code (Code Napoléon) was a civil code created with the intention of breaking from the institutions of the past. Based on reason, it was also heavily

FRANCE'S DEFEAT IN THE

CARIBBEAN at Saint-Domingue was soon overshadowed by victory against Russia and Austria, which had been pulled back into war. Napoleon had also declared himself the king of Italy, then comprising Venice and northern Italian kingdoms. This act provoked the formation of a Third Coalition against France, with Britain, Austria, Russia, and Sweden as members. Deciding against an invasion of Britain, Bonaparte sent forces to Ulm, Bavaria (September 25–October 20), where he was victorious. However, the day after the Battle of Ulm ended, France suffered a humiliating naval defeat at the hands of the British in the Battle of Trafalgar, under the command of Napoleon's old enemy, Horatio Nelson (see 1798). The battle, fought near Cape Trafalgar, between Cadiz, Spain, and the Strait of Gibraltar, saw the meeting of 18 French and 15 Spanish ships against 27 British vessels. Britain was victorious, capturing or destroying 18 ships, but Nelson, fatally wounded in action, died before the end of the battle. Napoleon decided to change tactics and turned to Europe, occupying Vienna and defeating Russia and Austria at the Battle of Austerlitz on December 2.

In Egypt, the Macedonian-born soldier Muhammad Ali (1769–1849) was named viceroy, or pasha, to the Ottoman sultan. Ali had arrived in Egypt in 1801 as part of a regiment sent to drive out the French.
