THE FINE IMPOSED ON SUSAN B. ANTHONY FOR VOTING

IN THE AFRICAN KINGDOM OF ETHIOPIA, Yohannes IV (1831–89) was crowned emperor. He was considered a strong ruler, staving off the increasing incursions from Europeans as well as from African neighbors. By the end of the following decade, Ethiopia had defeated invasions by Egyptian forces, as well as Italian forces.

In the US, pressure was growing for women to be given the right to vote. One of the leading advocates was Susan B. Anthony (1820–1906), who, during the 1872 presidential election, marched up to the polling station in Rochester, New York and cast her vote in defiance of the law. She was arrested and fined. Although she refused to pay the fine, the court case did not continue and Anthony carried on with her crusade.

Meanwhile, in New York, Captain Benjamin Briggs set out to cross the Atlantic on the ship Mary Celeste on November 7. By December 4, the crew of the Dei Gratia spotted the Mary Celeste drifting around the coast of Portugal completely deserted. The life boat was missing and the ship had drifted some 700 miles (1,100 km) from the last point entered in the log. Its crew was never seen again, and the maritime mystery was never solved.

In France, physicist Louis Ducos du Hauron had been working on creating a color photograph using a three-color principle. He patented his process in 1868 and went on to produce some of the earliest color photographs.

CARLIST WARS IN SPAIN

The 19th century in Spain was dominated by the Carlist Wars. These civil wars began in 1834, triggered by the death of Ferdinand VII. The conservative Carlists did not want the king's daughter, Isabella (1830–1904), to take the throne, but rather Ferdinand's brother, Don Carlos (1788–1855). After three wars, the dispute was resolved in 1876 with the accession of Isabella's son Alfonso XII (1857–85) to the throne, who drove some 10,000 Carlists out of Spain.

EAGER TO PROTECT GERMANY'S GROWING POWER, Bismarck proposed the Three Emperors' League, an alliance between Germany, the Austro-Hungarian Empire, and Russia, with the purposeful exclusion of France. Formed in 1873, the league lasted for three years, was later reestablished in secret in 1881 and renewed in 1884, and finally collapsed in 1887. At issue were the continued conflicts of interest between Austria-Hungary and Russia in the Balkan territory.

In the Caribbean, the island of Puerto Rico finally abolished slavery. Although the slave trade had been suppressed earlier, the practice had continued on the island and in neighboring Cuba. Both were still under Spanish control. The end of slavery was announced in May 1873, although an apprenticeship system was put in place, extending slave conditions for some until 1876.

In Canada, the North West Mounted Rifles was formed to enforce the law on a national and local level. The force was charged with policing the largely rural provinces of the huge Canadian territory. The initial few hundred officers had some 300,000 sq miles (800,000 sq km) under their jurisdiction. But the US was uncomfortable with the idea of armed troops patrolling the border, so the force's name was changed to the North West Mounted Police—though later the name would be altered again to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which is still in use, along with the famous abbreviation of “Mounties.”

IN MARCH, BRITISH ARMY OFFICER CHARLES GEORGE GORDON

(1833–85) arrived in the province of Equatoria, in the south of Egyptian-occupied Sudan. He was to take control of the territory but under the auspices of the khedive (viceroy) of Egypt. Gordon was tasked with establishing way stations up the White Nile and to attempt to suppress the ongoing slave trade. He mapped parts of the Nile and set up outposts along the river as far as Uganda. He became governor-general of Sudan in 1877.

Meanwhile, in West Africa, a British expedition led by Sir Garnet Wolseley (1833–1913) defeated the Asante Empire (present-day Ghana) and asserted control over the southern part of their territory, known as the Gold Coast.
