

PUMPKIN BOAT RACE Paddling giant pumpkins for canoes, contestants race around a lake at the Tualatin Pumpkin Regatta in Oregon. Held every fall, such events are hugely popular not just in the US but also countries including Canada and Germany. Pumpkins are easily converted into boats, since they are already partly hollow inside, making it a simple task to carve out space for a rower to sit inside.