

"Those who caught a glimpse of the king were expected to kneel and touch the earth with their brows."

—Zhou Daguan, Chinese diplomat who visited Angkor in 1296

4 Worshippers

People fall to their knees and pray as the king is carried past them.

5 Hindu priests

A few temple priests, known as Brahmins, are walking along one of the shaded galleries.

6 Temple gate

On the other side of this grand gate is the sacred compound, with the temple at its center.

7 Elephant

This elephant is being trained to carry things. If it does well it might carry the king one day.

8 Food baskets

This man is laden with baskets full of rice from one of the nearby farms.

9 Cherished kids

Children are much loved in Angkor. They wear their long hair in a top knot, just like adults do.
