

The first modern humans were born just 200,000 years ago. In that tiny fraction of Earth's history, we have changed the face of the planet.

