

Thanks to the latest satellite technology and powerful computers, maps can now show us the whole world with more accuracy and detail than ever before.

