

1876

THE FIRST TELEPHONE CALL IS MADE

On 10 March, Scottish inventor Alexander Graham Bell made the first call using his "speaking telegraph" device, which converted sound waves into a fluctuating electric current that could be reconverted into sound at the other end of the circuit. He called his assistant in another room to say: "Mr Watson – come here – I want to see you."

▷ Bell's telephone

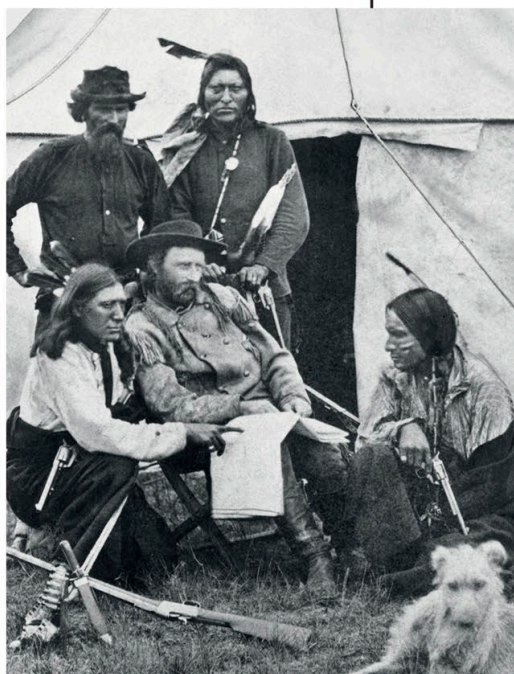

1875

1875 Ethiopia repels an Egyptian invasion force, guaranteeing its independence from foreign interference

1876 BATTLE OF LITTLE BIGHORN

On 25–26 June, US General Custer and 600 cavalry rashly attacked the camp of the Northern Plains Indians' leader, Sitting Bull, on the Little Bighorn River. Custer's men were soon caught in a running battle with 2,000 warriors led by Sioux war leader Crazy Horse. Custer made his "last stand" on high ground above the Sioux village and died along with 210 of his men in the fighting.

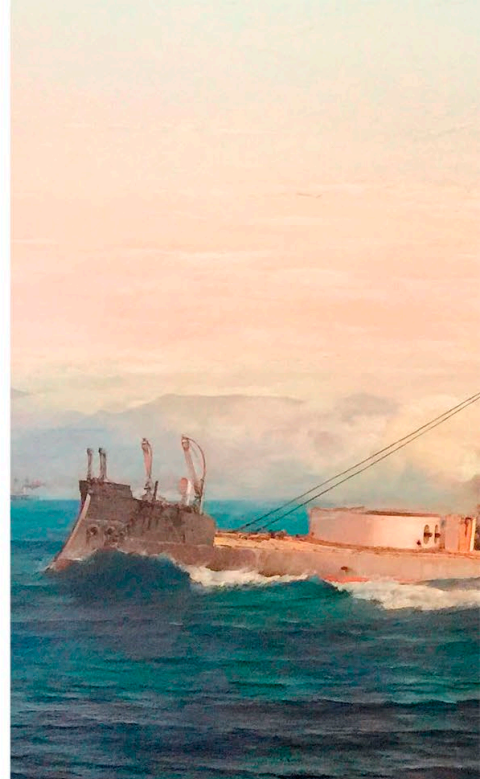

▷ George Custer and scouts

1879-84

WAR OF THE PACIFIC

Chile went to war against Bolivia and Peru in a struggle for control of the mineral-rich area of the Atacama Desert on the Pacific coast. In February 1879, Chile occupied the Bolivian port of Antofagasta and the subsequent conflict ranged across the Pacific Ocean, Peruvian deserts, and the Andes. The war finally ended in 1883–84; Chile annexed Peruvian and Bolivian land along the Pacific coast.

1876-78 The Great Famine

in central and southern India affects 58 million people; 8.2 million die

1876 Porfirio Díaz seizes the Mexican presidency and serves for 31 years, overseeing Mexico's modernization

1831-90 SITTING BULL

A Lakota Sioux warrior, Sitting Bull united America's Great Plains Indians against the white settlers. His victory at Little Bighorn made the government determined to quell the Indigenous Americans.