

The Woodstock festival on 15–18 August 1969 drew 400,000 people to a dairy farm in Bethel, New York, to watch 32 acts take to the stage for “3 days of Peace & Music”. A 1970 documentary film and the festival soundtrack album helped secure Woodstock’s legendary status.