

Transition Metals

Many compounds of transition metals are brightly coloured. These metals are often used in alloys, such as brass and steel.