

Aristotle with Plato

The School of Athens, a fresco in the Vatican by Italian Renaissance painter Raphael, portrays many famous philosophers of Ancient Greece. Plato (left) and his pupil Aristotle (right) are in deep debate.

“In the sea, there are... objects... which one would be at a loss to determine whether they be animal or vegetable. [Some] are rooted and [may] perish if detached.”

Aristotle, History of Animals