

"I was not tired physically ...
I was tired of giving in."

ROSA PARKS, CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIVIST, 1956

▲ Protest line

Men and women march for Civil Rights in Marion, Alabama, in 1965.

► At the front of the bus

Seamstress Rosa Parks refused to give her seat to a white passenger on December 1, 1955, sparking a yearlong boycott that ended segregation on buses in Montgomery, Alabama, and elsewhere, and transformed her into an icon of Civil Rights.

