

cross section of a molar

Teeth are formed of two main parts: the crown (the visible protruding part) and one or several roots (the part inserted in the maxilla).

