

Rivers

Rivers help to shape the Earth, wearing down mountains, carving valleys, and laying down soil and rocks to form new land. Lakes hold 44 times more of the planet's fresh water than rivers.

